

He still comes around sometimes. People question me about him

It's better that he comes around though. Because people talk.

They'll say I'm not a good woman if I have been divorced by two husbands. So I still welcome him when he comes.

My daughter is 16 now so I keep her at a madrasa. I hope to marry her to a good home - and people in this community can be spiteful...

I'm 35 now and no factory will take me on beyond 40. If my situation doesn't improve soon, I'm worried it never will...

They wouldn't mess with me, a married mother. But they would harm my daughter to hurt me...

So even though it costs a lot to keep her in the school, I don't have a choice

I need to get a better job. Everything will be okay if I can make some money.

I'd like to move to Gazipur. The garment factories are more prosperous there. If only I could go there and find work.

I just can't be a burden on my family. They have other problems.

I don't like to be dependent on anybody

I like to be free...

Inshallah I can make it on my own
